STATE OF QATAR

Economic Evolution and Unrivalled Opportunity

Qatar, officially known as the State of Qatar, is an oil-rich Middle East peninsula, located on the Arab Gulf west coast.

Fueled by progressive Government strategies driving free trade and foreign investment, Qatar's economy has been transformed into one of the most buoyant in the region. Liberal taxation, relaxed barriers to investment and wide-ranging development programs provide a marketplace bursting with opportunity.

With the world's highest GDP per capita, the world's third largest proven gas reserves, and foreign business willing to be part of Qatar's future – including the Qatar World Cup 2022 – the country is delivering excellent returns on investment.

The benefits of doing business in Qatar are many, like easy access to locally produced raw materials, easy availability of skilled and inexpensive manpower, extremely low energy costs and 100% repatriation of profits and capital after income tax.

In short Qatar is open for business and ripe for enterprise.

QATAR - HOME TO DIVERSE INDUSTRIES

Qatar is home to several industries that catalyze change and revolutionize the world.

Industries like plastics, chemicals, aluminum and steel, food and fiberglass supply raw material for diverse products that form a main part of Qatar's exports thereby augmenting the nation's economic growth and development.

The majority of the companies in these industries have been certified by ISO 9001 and other international bodies inspiring the end users with confidence in the superior quality of their products and services. They contribute to a clean and green environment by using cutting edge degradable and biodegradable technology.

In short, Qatar is open for business and ripe for enterprise!

Romania at a glance

Positioned at the crossway between European Union, Middle East and the CIS states, Romania offers a strategic access to these major markets.

With about 20 million inhabitants, Romania is the 7th largest country in terms of population in the European Union.

In 2016, the Romanian GDP grew by almost 5%, one of the largest in Europe, confirming the fast pace of the last years. Driven by domestic demand, the growth should remain strong in 2017.

Romania has a young and enthusiastic working force that is well educated, proficient in foreign languages and open to other cultures.

A number of fast growing sectors have made of Romania a major destination: IT&C, automobile, food and other consumption goods, constructions, infrastructure, transportation, health, energy and agriculture.

The country's low taxation and various European and local investment-aid programs are also sustaining the development.

In terms of tourism, Bucharest is considered a rising destination among the capitals of Central and Eastern Europe.
